LETTER FROM THE RABBI

A Labor Day Message for the Month of September

In 1942, the Union Prayer Book which Reform Jews used in one form or another as their Siddur (Prayer Book) for over 50 years, included the following prayer, the perfect lead for this wonderful month that includes Labor Day:

O Lord, though we are prone to seek favors for ourselves alone, yet when we come into Thy presence, we are lifted above petty thoughts of self. We become ashamed of our littleness and are made to feel that we can worship Thee in holiness only as we serve our brothers in love. How much we owe to the labors of our brothers! Day by day they dig far away from the sun that we may be warm, enlist in outposts of peril that we may be secure and brave the terrors of the unknown for truths that shed light on our way. Numberless gifts and blessings have been laid in our cradles as our birthright.

Let us then, O Lord, be just and great-hearted in our dealings with our fellowmen, sharing with them the fruit of our common labor, acknowledging before Thee that we are but stewards of whatever we possess. Help us to be among those who are willing to sacrifice that others may not hunger, who dare to be bearers of light in the dark loneliness of stricken lives, who struggle and even bleed for the triumph of righteousness among men. So may we be co-workers with Thee in the building of Thy kingdom which has been our vision and goal through the ages. (UPB, Cincinnati, p. 45, bold added for emphasis)

What a remarkable text! The Jewish community, overwhelmingly guided by leaders in the Northeast and far, far away from mines, identified with the struggles of hardworking coal miners who provided them with energy. What's truly remarkable about this text is the extremely low likelihood that many of these miners were even Jewish; Reform Jews stood by the principle that all human beings—whether Jewish or not, whether politically aligned or not, whether educated or not, whether wealthy or not—were inherently created B'tzelem E-lohim, in the Divine Image. It has always guided our vision of justice, to invest in all of humanity. I personally believe that the immense success that Jews have had as inventors of many disciplines—psychology, sociology, anthropology, to name a few—stems from the bible's reminder, "Love the stranger, for you were strangers in the land of Egypt."

This month, as we read Deuteronomy and wind down our year of Torah, the year 5784, we will read another sacred text that reminds us of our core purpose on this planet:

צְדָקָה צְדָקָה תִּרְדְּדוּ לְמַעַן תִּחְיֶה

Justice, Justice shall you pursue, so that you may live (Dt. 16:20)

Again, the text does not qualify justice as only applying to Jews; justice for non-Jews, too. Dare I say that it is required of us?

It is tricky to be both a universalist and a particularist, especially in this world in which Jews are experiencing antisemitic and antizionist rhetoric at levels unseen in decades, with Israel's existence hanging in the balance. How do we embrace our Jewishness while celebrating our coexistence with all the other peoples of the planet? This is not really a parochial question; every minority in America must ask themselves a variation of this question, especially when targeted as different, as outsiders.

The American Jewish answer has always been to lean into our uniqueness while we celebrate others' uniqueness, too. Jews are said to vote against their own self-interest for the sake of others, over and over, more than any other group in America. I consider this remarkable, a blessing, and a gift, that we feel invested in others' wellbeing without it being a quid pro quo. Today, with a war raging in Gaza, it is harder than ever to remember this principle, that we do what is right whether others like us or not. This is very hard to do, but it is what our people have always done.

So as I celebrate Labor Day this month, I celebrate the blessing of being part of a community that has figured out a balance between self-interest and selflessness, in such a way that we have become an Or L'goyim, a "light unto the nations" (cf. Isaiah 49:6). Hillel said it famously, and I taught it to our students at religious school: "If I am not for myself, who will be for me? And if I am only for myself, what am I? And if not now, when?"

May we continue to celebrate the blessings of every person's contributions to our planet.

May we measure our love for others not based on their similarity to us, but rather on their inherent worth.

May we Love our Neighbors as Ourselves.

And may we forever pursue justice for all.

As I have said to my children when I dropped them off at school, I now say to you: I love you. Learn a lot. Be a mensch.

Blessings,

Rabbi Klein

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Shalom friends who are family,

Hello September! Religious School started with joy and enthusiasm. I get to work with our Hebrew students. Their efforts and willingness to make the effort warm my heart. We are blessed to see our next generation of caring and engaged Jewish students. I'm already composing the comments I want to share with them at their upcoming Bar and Bat Mitzvah celebrations...

The Pastrami King is our big focus at the end of September. PLEASE sign up for a shift if you have not done so yet. This effort supports our congregation. It has a significant fiscal impact. We are looking forward to accomplishing beautification and infrastructure projects that are a long time coming.

Everyone who has participated in the fun at the Pastrami King returns again and again. I promise you this uniquely Jewish Bakersfield experience is worth the shvitzing! We are grateful to Congregation B'nai Jacob for sharing this endeavor with Temple Beth El. High holidays will commence in early October. Rabbi Klein and all of us involved in providing the spiritual content, the practical scaffoldings, the delicious food, etc. are already diligently planning.

Rock Harbor Church members are providing us with trained, armed security during services. We are grateful for their desire to protect us. Look for training classes in first aid and other safety activities for Temple members after the high holidays.

We are closing on a year since our brothers and sisters in southern Israel were so brutally attacked. Not a day goes by without my eyes searching for good news. It has been a long brutal year. We pray for the safe return of the hostages and enduring peace to finally come to us wherever we are.

Hope to see you at any, and maybe even all, the activities and opportunities to share the warmth of our Temple Beth El community,

יש תמיד סיבה למסיבה

There is always a reason for celebration,

Avital Anders

President

Sisterhood Book Club

Our next read for Sisterhood Book Club will be The Postcard by Anne Berest. In 2003, twenty-four-year-old Anne Berest's mother, Lélia, receives a cryptic postcard containing only the names of four relatives, who all died at Auschwitz during the Holocaust. Ten years later, Anne embarks on a mission to discover who sent it and why, and she soon discovers more about her family's history and her Jewish heritage. Aided by her chain-smoking mother, family members, friends, associates, a private detective, a graphologist, and many others, she embarks on a journey to discover the fate of the Rabinovitch family: their flight from Russia following the revolution, their journey to Latvia, Palestine, and Paris. What emerges is a moving saga that shatters long-held certainties about Anne's family, her country, and herself.

We will meet to discuss this novel in the fall; date to be determined. If you would like more information about Sisterhood Book Club, please contact Amanda Garza.
